Kudos and Highlights

Jeri Lynn

Helped her mother with the laundry this week and had a great time at the Firday Night Dance

Patricia

Is excited for her sister's new baby!
The baby is growing nice, strong and healthy!

Sohum

Graduated from his BOCES program this past week, earned chocolate for all of his client work and received an award for his work in the CBT program this week!

Noah

The Massapequa Cardinals made him an honorary cardinal and presented him with an official jersey. He will also be participating with "Football Field of Dreams" at LIU in Brookville.

Anthony

Went to the library and did meditation and made a summer candle, went to a car show at his local school district, and went to Bath and Body Works for the semi sale. He also went to the Smithtown Festival and saw a dance performance. Finally, he went to Dave And Busters with his Day Hab group and played arcade games.

Michelle R.

Bought a lovely housewarming gift for Lauren's new place at the Woodmere Group Home.

Laura

Has been representing her Hub Site at the Executive Council. She also enjoyed riding her bike outside and attending Zoom with her friends this week!

Gloria

Gloria saw the Little Mermaid...today she went to the Franklin Square library: a flea market and bought herself a necklace. She went to Target and bought a pink top and bought Mary a pink flowered plant. She had lunch at Panera. She went to hip hop classes on Friday and had dinner at Panera the night before!!!

Michelle B

Last Sunday she saw the Orchid Show at the Planting Fields in Oyster Bay. She also saw the movie, "The Little Mermaid" and went to the Creative Corner in West Hempstead and painted flower pots and planted for Father's Day. Finally, she saw the movie "The Man Called Otto" at the Bethpage Library

STRIVES

- We learned about Albinism for the upcoming International Albinism Awareness Day.
- We discussed the NYC Puerto Rican Day parade and watched a Bomba music and dance performance.
